SCENE ONE

OPENING THEME.

FADE TO:

INT. Kiran's Office, Vis Headquarters - DAY

Static buzzes. An answering machine clicks on, and we hear the voice of DR. MARELLA MORGAN -- muffled slightly by the recording.

MARELLA

You have reached the voicemail of Dr. Marella Morgan. I'm not available to answer your call right now. Leave a message, and I'll get back to you if it's urgent.

We hear the beep of an answering machine, followed by the sound of a voice, filtered.

KIRAN

(laughing) Oh they told me I'd like you. What a charming message. Dr. Morgan, my name is Kiran Flint. You don't know me, yet, but I was giving your contact information because... well. Frankly I was told to call you, or suffer the consequences of someone else's mediocrity, and I rather liked the sound of that.

Right now, in your mailbox, you should find a blank, black envelope waiting for you. Inside, you'll find a ticket to New York. Someone will be waiting for you at the airport, to take you to a hotel -- all expenses paid, of course.

I'll be waiting for you on the pier at Coney Island. October 31st. 9:00am. Sharp. I hope to see you there.

There's a... puzzle. I'm hoping you'll be the one to help me solve it. I understand you're a very busy woman, doctor, but I promise, I'll make it worth your while.

October 31st. 9:00am. See you on Coney Island. That is... IF you're up for the challenge.

We hear the click of the receiver. The sound of waves.
